Welcome to Wonderment

A multi-media group art exhibition and sale by the Firnew Farm Artists' Circle exploring the meaning of Wonderment, as if through a child's eyes. The Firnew Farm Artists' Circle is a group of forty dedicated artists who have been working together for almost twenty years, in varied mediums: watercolor, acrylic, oil, photography, mixed media, pottery, jewelry making and fiber arts.

The exhibition in all its wonder conveys the magic feeling of love, tenderness, and beauty in a myriad of colors. From a photograph of the Madison County Fair, the richness of a sea of garlic and heirloom tomatoes, to a grandmother's loving depiction of her granddaughter. Landscapes abound with a sweet urban winter wonderland, perfect for the holiday season.

While the pandemic has restricted a traditional reception, individuals and small groups are welcome. Visitors should go directly to the Westminster Canterbury of the Blue Ridge Gallery and wear a mask covering both nose and mouth. If asked, visitors can say they are going to see the show in the gallery.

"I have so many wonderful memories growing up on the York River. I did this painting from a black and white photograph I took and developed myself for my high school photography class. We were surrounded by water, hills, fields and woods and could see only one other house across the cove in the winter months when the leaves were bare. Such a precious time in my life I will always cherish."

"Ever since I snapped a photo of my granddaughter pretending to read, I was determined to paint her portrait. Recently a good friend gave me a set of chalk pastels that her late mother, a self-taught artist, had long used. It was the gift that I needed. As my fingers softly blended the colors on the paper, Evan seemed to magically appear."
